At the time of the capture the Virginius was flying the American flag, but this was pulled down by the Spanith officer and the Spanish ensign hoisted in its place, although the papers of the vessel, duly despatched for Colon, were handed to him. The vessel at the time was in British waters, and within a leage, as I am positively assur-ed, of the coast of Jamaica. On this point all the accounts differ. One gives the capture as having been effected at twenty miles from Jamaica, and the official account states twelve miles. The commander of the Tornado publicly stated in Santiago de Cuba that an hour later and the Virginius could have saved herself by entering some port of Jamaica. At midnight that night the two vessels the following day at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Upon arrival in port the intelligence spread like lightning and attracted an immense crowd of reople. On the 4th inst. four of the prisoners, Ryan, Del Sol, Bembetta and Cespedes, were shot at the place made famous by prekneeling close to the slaughter house wall. All marched to the spot with firmness. Bembetta and Ryan showed marked courage, although the former was slightly affected toward the last. The two others quite broke down before they were bandaged; but Ryan kept up to the last, never flinched a moment, and died without fear or regret.

On the morning of the 7th inst. the captain of the Virginius and thirty-six more of the prisoners were put to death after the shadow of a trial, in the same manner in which Gen. Ryan and his friends were murdered.

On the morning of the 8th inst. Twelve more of the prisoners, were executed, among whom was Franchi Alfaro, of New York City, who offered a ransom of $1,000,000 if they would spare his life.

On the9th inst., the remainder of the prisoners taken on board the Virginius, with the exception of eighteen, who were found to be ignorant of the destination of the expedition, were executed, making 111 victims

NEW JERSEY ITEMS.

The remodeling and renovation of the First Presbyterian Church, Orange, has been completed. The appearance of the interior of the church is very much altered by the improvements, and the changes made reflect credit upon those having the work in charge. The old windows of common white glass have been taken out, and new ones of stained glass substituted, new gas fixtures have been put in, the galleries have been lowered, and the seats in the body of the church have been furnished with new and more comfortable backs. The ceiling has been tastefully frescoed, and altogether the edifice wears a much more cheerful and churchlike appearance than before. On last Friday afternoon, says the East Orange Gazette, at the close of the singing lesson, Mr. E. R. Pennoyer, the Principal of Ashland School, presented Miss Louisa Passmore, the teacher of the highest class, from the teachers generally and the scholars of her class, a fine French walnut writing desk, as a token of regard to Miss Passmore, who has resigned her position. Miss Passmore was so taken by surprise that she could only find utterance in the words "thank you," her feelings being completely overcome. Miss Passmore has been in Ashland School over three years, and was greatly beloved by her scholars and associates. She has gone East for her health.

BOOK OF STARTLING INTEREST

WHAT CAN SHE DO?

BY THE AUTHOR OF

DODD & MEAD, PUBLISHERS. ONE VOL. 12mo. PRICE $1 76.

"Barriers Burned Away."

What Can She Do?" is a Story of modern oc-ciety; it deficts in the daughters of a wealthy family, reduced from great wealth to sudden poverty, the evils of a fashionable education, which only mocks in the hour of emergency and leaves its victims peculiarly exposed to temptation: it further shows how the heroine struggles bravely through difficulties arising mainly from her defective education, and achieves success in a large field of labor in which but few women are yet employed. Thus making good the motto of the book

'Hail honest toil thy hard brown hand, May save the fairest in the land."
